Greetings,

My name is Joseph Haynes and I am the Education Associate in African American Student Services. Our office provides resources to ensure African American students have a confident transition to the University of New Mexico.

We are excited to continue our 4th Annual Summer B.E.S.T. Program (Black Excellence in Science and Technology). This 2-week program (June 3-14, 2019) is for 8th graders rising to the 9th grade and emphasizes developing students math and science skills, stimulating their interest in STEM degree programs and career paths and provides early exposure to college life. The students will also engage in African American cultural and social activities designed to provide a holistic learning experience. Students who participate in this two week curriculum also participate in an overnight research trip and present a final project and research poster.

This program is reserved for 15 students and is highly competitive. Please view the interest flyer for additional information.

Thank you!
